

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 29, 1882.

IN THE Pennsylvania democratic convention yesterday, Mr. Stenger, an ex member | whites, 7,971 foreign-born whites, and 128,of Congress, said he thanked God that no whip crack was heard and that no man was big enough to boss the democrats of that State. Virginia democrats have the same cause for thankfulness. But how different republican, and during the war was a Union with the Mahoneites! And with the Virginia republicans it must be terrible, for the crack of the whip they hear is that of the repudiating "rebel brigadier," and the boss they obey, one who until recently was their most proscriptive opponent, and who even now declines to acknowledge himself a re- view of the lateness of the session and the publican! Nobody supposes that Botts and Chandler and the other bold, upright and conscientious Virginia republicans now dead and gone would have shuddered at the mentary measures to obstruct the business sound of General Mahone's whip and has- of the session as he had threatened to do tened to obey his commands, but Virginia yesterday. The House then went into comrepublicans have sadly deteriorated both in tion bill, Mr. Harris, of Massachusetts, manners and morals.

thousands of people, to the remotest generation, will believe that in him a madman proposed large expenditure. was sent to the gallows. The President has audacity enough to violate every promise he made regarding his intention of following the course laid out by his predecessor. but refuses to let a commission of scientist examine Guiteau lest some might possibly say he was partial to the man who gave him his office. But there is a vast difference between audacity and moral courage. With regard to the eager desire of the American people, as reflected in the press of the country, to have Guiteau hanged before the commission referred to has passed upon his mental condition, it can only be said that the obligation respecting the rate of interest their mercy has not kept equal pace with | those banks were to charge, and said that their advance in science.

Poor old Mr. Brewster? He was so intent upon having the leading citizens of South Carolina arrested, tried and convictthe election laws, that he allowed the time he should have devoted to the preparation of the star route cases to slip by, and now comes into court so ill-prepared for the trial that the Judge already talks about dismiss- in Richmond and in this city, and who has ing the indictment against the chief heretofore been on friendly and political of the alleged swindlers. Then, too, the old a letter to him asking his influence in securgentleman is not consistent, for whereas be-fore he took the office he was outspoken in position in one of the departments. It is his opposition to boss rule in Pennsylvania, he has now no word of censure for Mr. Cameron. His velvets and frills and fluffs are beautiful, but they do not hide his many and gross imperfections.

OF ALL the many sins of omission of the present Congress, none is more patent than the failure to pass the bill for the reclamation of the Potomac flats, and for this democrats as well as republicans are responsible. The flats are increasing in area year by year, and as they encroach upon the surface of Washington is prevented, and being held thereon to putrify under the rays of the hot summer sun, fills the whole circumambient air with a noxious miasma that is not only dangerous itself, but that affords fertile ground for the seed of any contageous and inflectious disease that may be planted

THE DEMOCRATS of Pennsylvania have nominated Robert E. Pattison as their candidate for Governor. The nominee is popular throughout the State, but exceedingly so in Phhiladelphia, and this fact and the split in the republican party there give the democrats good grounds for expecting a victory next fall.

Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock a neighboring drayman thought he heard a shot and scream in the direction of Cole's house but paid no attention to it. About 10 o'clock the people occupying part of the house with the Cole family noticed their apartments all shut up, and went down town to his brother's to inquire whether they had gone away. The brother went up and finding the house locked, got a policeman and broke in. The bodies of Mr. Cole and his wife were in the same bed, the latter having a bullet in the left temple. Mr. Cole had shot himself over the right eye, and the revolver was still in his hand. His daughter Nellie's body was lying on the lounge in the adjoining room with a bullet hole in the back of the head. She was the only child living, and had graduated from the Woodward High School only last Friday. Mr. Cole has been observed to talk wildly for the past two or his family died they would all die together,

But the end finally came in a most peremptory manner. Shortly before his death he wrote a letterwhen he arose and ate a hearty breakfast with evident relish. The breakfast consisted of a pound of broiled beefsteak, fried ponear affects different minds differently, but tatoes, bread and butter and nearly a quart probably all who are in a fair condition of physical and mental strength instinctively shrink from it with an indefinable dread command of the military guard and Lieut. and horror. The quesmunicated her message to Guiteau, who tion is, were these men sufficiently careful handed out 50 cents with the remark: "All of their health, and could they have been saved? The Albany Argus, in speaking of Mr. Potter's sudden illness and death, says:

"One of the physicians who attended Mr. Potter here was interviewed last evening. He stated that Mr. Potter's inability to converse had for some time served to baffle the physicians in their efforts to determine the root of his illness. It seems, however, that Mr. Potter, some two years ago, suffered a slight attack of kidney disease. Unwise dependence upon a robust constitution and naturally perfect health, and neg-lect of proper clothing, doubtless sowed the seeds of a disease that needed but some such personal neglect as that of Tuesday morning to develop. From the symptons at first shown it was thought that his only trouble was nervous prostration; but his long continuance in a semi-unconscious state led to the belief that his illness was seated in a chronic difficulty more mysterious and dangerous.' Up to the latter part of last year Mr. Edward F. Rook, a member of the New York stock exchange, was doing busines in Wall street, New York. He had everything to Washington, June 29.—The President encourage him, and make life happy, but His experience as described by one who knew, was as follows: "At unexpected times, and on occasions when he had the greatest reason to feel joyous he was irritable and haunted with strange feelings of discovering the stretched across Royal street, on King and Cameron streets, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be stretched across Royal street, on King and Cameron streets, and an admission fee of 25 cents ble and haunted with strange feelings of discontent. He endeavored to check these feelings and appear pleasant, but it required a great effort to do so; after which he would again relapse into his former morbid mood. This feeling continued for a number of months when he became conscious of an added sensation of lassitude. He was tired even when resting, and although experiencing no acute pain, had dull aching sensations in his limbs and various parts of his body. Shortly afterward his head began to ache most frequently and his stomach failed to digest properly. Being told that he was suffering from malaria he consulted an eminent physician, who informed him that his kidneys were slightly effected, and gave him medicine to restore them. But he grew worse instead of better. He consulted other eminent doctors of another school and was informed that he had a brain difficulty somewhat in the nature of a tumor, but in spite of all efforts to the contrary he continued to grow worse. At this time his condition was terrible. What were at first simple symptons had developed to terrible troubles. He was flushed and feverish, constantly uneasy, and yet always weary. He had an intense appetite one day and very little the next. His pulse was irregular, his breathing labored, and every moment of existence was a burden. These disastrous symptoms continued, his face and body became discolored, his heart was irregular in its action, and his breath came in short, convulsive gasps. He grew constantly worse, notwithstanding the utmost precautions of his friends, and finally died in the greatest agony. After his death an examination as to its actual cause was made, when his brain was found to be in a perfect condition, and the reason of his decease was of an entirely different nature." The experiences which have been cited above all had a common cause and were each the result of one disease. The disease. which so deceitfully, yet surely removed the people above mentioned was Bright's disease of the kidneys. In the case of Mr. Rook the examination after death, while showing the brain to be in perfect condition, revealed the terrible fact that he was the victim of a slight kidney trouble, which had gone on unchecked, until it resulted in acute Bright's disease. The leading physicians and scientists of the word are fast learning that more than one-half the deaths which occur are caused by this monstrous scourge. It is one of the most deceitful maladies ever known to the human race. It manifests itself by symptoms so slight and common, as to seem unworthy of attention; and yet these very insignificant symptoms are the first stages of the worst complaint known in the history of the world. Thousands of people have died from troubles that are called heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, brain fever, and similar diseases, when it was, in fact Bright's disease of the kidneys. The ravages of this disease have been greatly increased from the fact that until recent years no way was known to prevent its beginning nor check its increase when it had become once fixed upon the system. Within the past two years, however, we have learned of more than hundred pronounced cases of Bright's disease, many of them worse than those above described, and most of whom had been given up by prominent physicies, who have been completely cured. The means used to accomplish this end has been Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, manufactured in Rochester, N. Y., a remedy that has won its way into the confidence of the public solely upon the remarkable merits it possesses. As a result, it is more widely used and thoroughly praised than any medicine which has ever been before the American public. Indeed there is not a drug store in the entire land where it cannot be found.

Although Bright's disease is so common in cities. Atthough bright's disease is so common in cities, it is still more prevalent in the country. When eminent physicians in the largest cities are not able to recognize Bright's disease, it is only natural that in the country where there are few physicians of any kind, and those few 50 unacphysicians of any kind, and those few so unacquainted with the disease as to call it by some other name, it should rage terribly and yet unknown to the ones who are suffering with it. Thousands of people can look back and recall the dash of friends from what was supposed to the Thousands of people can look back and recall the death of friends from what was supposed to be some common complaint, when it was really Bright's disease, and no one knew it. The terrible pleuro-pneumonia, which has been so dreaded, ble pieuro-pneumonia, which has been so areance is usually the result of uremic or kidney poison Lung fever can be traced to a similar source Most cases of paralysis arise from the same diffi culty, as well as innumerable fevers, lung, throat, head and bowel troubles. A vast number of ladies have suffered and died from complaints comm have suffered and died from complaints common to their sex called, perhaps, general debility, when, could the real cause have been known, it would have been found to be Bright's disease, masquerading under another name. In marked contrast to the sad cases which have been above described are the experiences of many prominent people who were as low as any of the persons mentioned, but who were remarkably restored to former health and vigor by this same remedy former health and vigor by this same remedy.

Among this number are the following prominent Among this number are the following prominent names; Col. John C. Whitney, Atlanta, Ga.; B. F. Larrabee, Boston, Mass.; Gen. C. A.
